A movie series that will not die about a guy who will not die. It's like onomatopoeia.

Hey, Ginger Cookie, are you awake?

No. I'm posting video in my sleep.

If you need a nap, the Day-Glo Couch is at your service. I'll even close the Sanctum door and hang a note out saying, "Warning: Large Hadron Collider malfunction in progress. Do not enter."

Well. That's going to be stuck in my head for the next few days now.

What movie series is that, anyway?

Halloween (I, II, III, IV, ... XXXVI...).

Well, if you're not worn out enough to sleep after that, it's hopeless. g

(But really, sack out early tonight, man. You have to be strong to endure my rant tomorrow, in which I say to the assembled multitude, "Welcome to flu season. Remember last flu season? Get the shot!"")

For symmetry's sake, you all can get one and I can skip it.

This year, try to get one that works, weird-ass fucking karma man.

I got mine already. And it hurt for two days. So there.

(Yes. I can learn.)

Good for you! Then here's my this-year's tip for everyone else: when you get your flu shot, flex the muscle you got stabbed in. Start right away, and flex and stretch every couple minutes for a few hours. It will minimize or prevent the owie muscle soreness. (Sorry I didn't tell you sooner... 8>{})

 cvillette

October 21 2008, 01:12:57 UTC

COLLAPSE

Nah, it's not the muscle soreness. I get the whole-body-ache immune reaction thing.

Suck.

But hey, we climbed tonight! Are we gonna climb tomorrow night?

 trollcatz

October 21 2008, 01:31:14 UTC

COLLAPSE

If you can keep your eyes open tomorrow at work, we will totally climb. g I think I figured out what I'm supposed to do on the traverse on the new route while I was staggering up to my front door. Ah, thank you, brain. Better late than never.

Oh, yeah, the reaction where the shot makes you feel as if you actually have the flu. That is so full of suck you could sell it as a whole-house vacuum cleaner.

 cvillette

October 21 2008, 01:36:08 UTC

COLLAPSE

Yeah, there's a counterintuitive hand-matchy thing. I was looking at that while you were working on it. Want some beta?

(Yup, that's the reaction. It's like having been beat up, only without the opportunity to fight back.)

 trollcatz

October 21 2008, 01:48:24 UTC

COLLAPSE

Beta, hell, yeah! You give best beta.

 cvillette

October 21 2008, 01:59:06 UTC

COLLAPSE

Okay. So when you come up under the spot where you've got to match hands on that ear and reach right, use your core to pull yourself under it and then kind of flag out left with your right leg before you reach. Because you gotta have your left foot on the hold, but I think what's pulling you off the wall is too much weight to the right. So if you cross your right leg behind your left and stick your foot out--

 trollcatz

October 21 2008, 02:58:18 UTC

COLLAPSE

Use the right leg as a counterweight on the left? OMG that's awesome. That beats the crap out of my idea, which involved levering up with the left hand. Which I'm not sure I could actually do. g

 trollcatz

October 21 2008, 01:07:57 UTC

COLLAPSE

Also, go to sleeeeeep! It's dark out! (I would call you up and sing you a lullabye, but the way I sing, the resulting nightmares would be no help. g)

I'm sitting on my sofa with all the lights out watching a shadowy cat shape sniff around the edge of the window.

Shhhhh.

You're going to wake up some night this winter and find her sleeping on your stomach.

And you'll be so owned you won't move a muscle for the next three hours. g

I wish. Like she'd get within--well, she's 10.3 feet away now, but every time I breathe she ducks.

You must ignore the feline. It's kind of a quantum thing.

You can either demonstrate interest in the cat, or the cat can be interested in you. Your type of breathing currently says, "Oh, crud, the cat heard me." Your breathing needs to say, "What cat? I don't care about any cat. I'm sleeping. I kan haz snorburgerz."

Only then will *Felix Domesticus Lethalis come closer.

*the greater ninja cat.

Clever stuff. (and I am NOT a Michael Myers fan either!)

MM the character and MM the "comedic" actor.
